

11

A scatter plot illustrating a strong positive linear correlation. The data points, represented by small black circles, are tightly clustered along a solid black regression line. The axes are labeled with 'm' and 'ary', indicating a relationship between these two variables. The plot is set against a white background with a light gray grid.

1